Our core values. We live and work by these ideals. They've made us one of the leading firms in the Atlantic Canadian construction industry, involved in the commercial and industrial sectors as project managers, general contractors and developers. With over 25 years of innovative thinking and experience, Marco's ability to succeed in the construction industry is founded on values that have stood the test of time – like everything we build.

The Marco Group of Companies is one of Atlantic Canada's most experienced construction firms. We thrive in one of the toughest, most demanding environments in the world. Because we demand as much from ourselves as the wind, weather and waves of the North Atlantic region demand from those who build in it. The company possesses an unequalled blend of engineering and construction professionals who have demonstrated expertise and innovation on every project, throughout Canada. During our 25 years, we at Marco have proven our mettle to be considered a leader in all facets of the construction industry.

Beyond tools and knowledge, beyond wisdom and will, it is our reputation we put forward on every job. And it is one built on technical expertise and quality construction. The group's performance record, and ability to get the job done quickly and successfully, have led to an impressive client list built on trust. We are always ready to tackle the tightest schedules and the harshest conditions. That's the nature of building in this region. And, yet, it is our nature to maintain a commitment to construction that is on time, on budget and of the highest workmanship standard.

At Marco, the management of every successful project comes down to our team approach under the guidance of very experienced professionals. Each project has a dedicated full time Site Superintendent and a Project Manager. The combined expertise of these two individuals is brought to bear on the tightest timeline possible. They share information, working in seamless harmony to complete the job within the projected timeline. Computerized management software is used at every turn to draft, schedule, estimate, and do cost control for your project.

Sizable projects with a fast-track schedule will also be staffed with a Project Engineer and/or a Site Clerk, depending on specific requirements. Additionally, each and every project is given the support of the entire team of professionals at Marco. The Project Manager and Superintendent will take advantage of the varying experience and expertise of other team members, whether it's for construction implementation, cost control, scheduling, or contract administration. Further, Marco's senior management team meets on a weekly or bi-weekly basis to review each project. The Marco Team will apply innovative thinking and tested expertise to make sure your project holds to our core values of construction - Integrity, Teamwork and Commitment.

Construction Approach

A way of work, a way of life, a culture – this is what safety is to us.

Many of the advancements in industrial safety have happened in the construction industry because safety and construction go hand-in-hand. The Marco Group of Companies is committed to our well-balanced safety program. Safety is a culture at Marco, never taken for granted. Since 1995, we have been operating a Construction Safety Program, company-wide. Based on the principals of the "Internal Responsibility System", the program reflects an employee-employer partnership to promote best practices in safety. And it's a partnership that's working.

Getting With The Program

The Marco Group of Companies operates a safety program in accordance with the Certificate of Recognition (COR) Program of the Newfoundland and Labrador Construction Safety Association and the Nova Scotia Construction Safety Association. In fact, Marco was one of the first COR Certified construction firms in Atlantic Canada.
